Agnew Lawyers Granted Powers To Halt Leaks

BALTIMORE (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew's lawyers held unprecedented subpoena power today to search for news leaks in the federal grand jury investigation of the vice president.

U.S. District Court Judge Walter E. Hoffman Wednesday granted the Agnew lawyers broad authority to question anyone in the United States "they deem appropriate and necessary," providing they give the Justice Department at least 48 hours' notice.

"Such depositions...shall be sealed and not be made part of any public file," Hoffman ruled. He also ordered the lawyers and the government to keep secret the names of those subpoenaed or those who testify.

Among those likely to be called for sworn statements are newsmen, lawyers, Justice Department officials and former and present friends of Agnew who may already have been questioned by the prosecutors.

At a news conference Wednesday President Nixon spoke out strongly for Agnew's right "not to be tried and convicted in the press and on television by leaks and innuendos and the rest."

Nixon said the charges "are serious and not frivolous."

Agnew has denounced the leaks, blaming them primarily on some Justice Department officials who were "severely stung" by inept handling of the Watergate prosecutions.

Nixon, however, defended Agnew's main target, Henry E. Petersen, chief of the department's criminal investigation division.

"If I did not support Mr. Petersen's handling of the investigation he would have been removed at this time," Nixon said.

The investigation of Agnew centers on allegations of bribery, extortion, conspiracy and tax violations while he was Baltimore County executive and governor of Maryland in the 1960s.

Published accusations allege Agnew accepted kickbacks from contractors who did business with the state. Agnew has denied the allegations.

The grand jury worked for nearly six hours Wednesday and was scheduled to hear more Agnew evidence today after Judge Hoffman warned it publicly to ignore news stories about the investigation because they "frequently are wholly or partially inaccurate."

War Powers Bill Ready; President Promises Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — House-Senate conferees were expected to disclose today a compromise bill to limit a president's war powers, setting the stage for a showdown on the issue between President Nixon and Congress.

The compromise reportedly would prohibit presidents from committing U.S. troops for more than 60 days without congressional approval, or 90 days for specified emergencies.

The 90-day limit for such special emergencies as protection of U.S. troops withdrawing from a combat commitment reportedly would be permitted only if a president notified Congress he needed the extra 30 days.

The compromise involves versions of two war powers bills passed by the House and Senate. Both houses now must consider the compromise.

President Nixon had said he would veto both the original House and Senate bills.

The 60-to 90-day time limit is a compromise between a 30-day limit in the Senate bill and a 120-day limit in the House version.

Another difference between the House and Senate bills was whether to define the emergency conditions under which a president could commit troops abroad for even a short period of time without congressional approval.

The original Senate bill defined such emergency conditions as the need to repel an attack upon the United States or U.S. armed forces abroad or to protect U.S. citizens and nationals being evacuated from a "direct and imminent threat to their lives."

Such definitions were removed from the House bill in committee when it was argued that they could have the reverse effect of seeming to grant presidents constitutional powers to make war.

Whether Congress could override a veto of the war powers bill is in doubt.

The House passed its original bill 244 to 170, or 32 votes short of the two-thirds needed to override a president's veto.

The Senate bill was approved on a 71-18 vote, 11 votes more than the necessary two-thirds.

Although the Senate seemed to have the votes to override, the bill would go first to the House, and if sustained there the bill would die since a presidential veto must be overridden by both houses.

Nixon Getting Way With Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — What President Nixon really wants in Congress, President Nixon usually gets.

The key votes read that way despite Democratic majorities, the woes of Watergate, and the President's own complaint about a long agenda of unpassed administration bills.

Nixon has vetoed seven bills this year, and made it stick each time. Democrats and dissenting Republicans have not been able to muster the two-thirds majority required to override him.

In his own catalogue of bills he said he wants passed, Nixon put top priority on an effort to hold down federal spending. He said he will use the veto as he deems necessary to that end.

High Military Reviews Calley Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's highest military court hears a fresh appeal today from Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who claims there was no malice in his mind during the My Lai massacre.

Calley's appeal goes to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, composed of three civilian judges who usually uphold the decisions of lower military courts.

Calley's lawyers argue in written briefs that their 29-year-old client was told all Vietnamese were potential enemies before his infantry platoon swept through the South Vietnamese village of My Lai March 16, 1968.

Unable to distinguish between friend and foe and ordered to kill civilians, argue Calley's lawyers, the then 24-year-old second lieutenant was incapable of malicious intent. They say without malice Calley's murder conviction can't stand up, and he is at most guilty of manslaughter.

In his court-martial over two years ago, Calley was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians and the assault on a Vietnamese child with intent to murder.

His sentence was reduced to 20 years and, by order of President Nixon, he has been held under house arrest at his apartment in Ft. Benning, Ga.

A neighbor reported Wednesday that Calley continues to live quietly, tending to his flower garden behind his brick apartment building. Lately, he has been digging a small pond lined with stones.

Weather

Occasional showers and thunderstorms likely today and tonight. High today, upper 70s. Low tonight near 50. Partly cloudy and cooler Friday, high, upper 60s. Probability of rain, 70 per cent today, 60 per cent tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow.

Passing bills takes a majority, and the Democrats have that in both House and Senate. Blocking them takes anything over one-third of the votes in either branch, just enough to sustain a veto. So far, the administration has had that many.

"We can prevent the President from doing something he wants to do by majority vote," one Democratic congressional strategist said. "But if we want to impose our will, it takes a two-thirds vote."

"We don't have that. And that is going to be our campaign song in 1974."

"It's not that we're going to get everything we want," said William E. Timmons, President Nixon's chief lobbyist. "But they're not going to get everything they want, either. So we compromise, and they compromise. And that's the way the system is supposed to work."

Most of Nixon's vetoes have been to stop measures he said would cost too much and contribute to inflation. At the same time, he has said he will use the veto if necessary to bar any sharp cuts in his defense budget. So far on most major defense votes, the administration has had majority support.

"We're weakest on the broad issues, the powers of Congress as against those of the White House," Timmons said. "The institutional issues are the tough ones."

But one veto did go directly to an issue of rival prerogatives. That was the measure that would have required Senate confirmation of the two top officials in the Office of Management and Budget. Nixon rejected it as an intrusion on his powers, and the veto was sustained.

One major issue on which Congress forced the President to yield was the bombing of Cambodia, ended by law Aug. 15. The administration gave in on that one after fending off a congressional effort to ban the bombing two months earlier.

Watergate Hears Segretti Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Florida Young Republican told the Senate Watergate committee today that political saboteur Donald H. Segretti hired him to sow "confusion, disruption and discontent among Democratic presidential candidates."

The committee, bumped off live network television for the first time, heard Martin Douglas Kelly, 24, testify how he joined Segretti in "negative campaigning" during the 1972 Democratic presidential primary in Florida.

Segretti testified Wednesday about his political pranks and sabotage. Robert M. Benz, 25, of Tampa, another associate of Segretti, was scheduled to appear before the panel later today.

Kelly, who said he had been heavily involved in Florida Young Republican activities across the state, told senators he was initially paid a modest salary by Segretti.

He said in a prepared statement that the salary was to have been increased to $700 a month for activities planned to take place just before, during and after the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach.

But he said the discovery of the Watergate break-in in Washington and the investigations that followed prevented a planned campaign of provocation.

"What political future I may have had has been virtually wiped out by what I did and what I was involved in," he said.

"Those who live by the sword die by the sword," Kelly said. "And I feel that these hearings can serve no better function than to exemplify the necessity of keeping our political system free of the things that can make politics corrupt and eventually ineffective."

Both Kelly and Benz have been granted immunity from prosecution for any testimony they give that may incriminate them.

Segretti, whose testimony was interrupted by a bomb threat, told the senators he never thought of his own tricks as illegal, although he has since realized they were.

The 32-year-old California lawyer has made a still-secret deal with federal prosecutors. He was permitted to plead guilty to three misdemeanor charges in exchange for his co-operation with Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, pointed out that the Segretti crew's activities included forcing a window to place a stink bomb inside a Democratic candidate's campaign headquarters, placing a political radio commercial under false sponsorship, writing salacious and libelous letters, fraudulent use of the mails and ordering for a Democratic campaign party flowers, limousines, liquor and food without paying for them.

"Throughout all that time, none of you discussed the possible criminal involvement of these acts?" Inouye asked.

Not until after the fact, Segretti said. "I think to a great extent we got caught up in the zeal of the activity and the zeal of the campaign, and these things were not done with any great forethought or foresight."

But Segretti said many of the things he and his agents did, such as posting pickets at Democratic rallies, weren't illegal.

"You don't call forgery or libel a mere prank, do you?" asked Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., the committee chairman.

Twister Hits Missouri; 8 Injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy thunderstorms rumbled across the middle Mississippi Valley today in the wake of heavy rains and a damaging tornado.

Four mobile homes were destroyed and five others extensively damaged in the Sedalia, Mo., area Wednesday night as a tornado and heavy rains swept the area. Eight persons were treated for minor injuries.

Sedalia, in central Missouri, was drenched with 4.7 inches of rain before dawn, bringing its total to more than 6 inches in two days.

One man was swept from a highway by water when he attempted to help a stranded motorist. A scuba diver was called in to check for persons who might have been submerged in a car found parked at the Missouri state fairgrounds. No one was found inside.

At La Monte, Mo., west of Sedalia, $15,000 in campers were destroyed at a dealership.

Rain falling on already saturated ground caused flooding on many rivers in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois. A flash-flood warning was issued for parts of central Missouri.

Almost 3 inches of rain was measured at Warrensburg, 1.4 at Columbia; both in Missouri, and slightly more than an inch at Eau Claire, Wis.

Thundershowers also dampened areas in Oklahoma and northern Texas and other showers clustered along the Atlantic Coast.

Temperatures dropped rapidly into the 40s and 50s in the central Plains and to the 30s in the western sections of the northern Plains.

Readings before dawn ranged from 23 at Butte, Mont., to 81 at Galveston, Tex.

Campaign Reform Panel Splits In Discord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tempers will have to cool and positions will have to give if a special legislative committee studying campaign finance reforms is to have recommendations ready for a special session of the General Assembly Oct. 23.

After a day-long session that extended well into Tuesday evening the seven Republicans and seven Democrats on the committee ended on opposite side of one of the state's biggest political hassles in years.

The donnybrook may have put the committee out of existence.

At one point, the chairman, Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R—8 Cincinnati, threatened to resign. Republicans sought to adjourn the meeting twice, but lost on a tie vote of 7-7. A senator became ill and had to leave, and one veteran House member called the deliberations a "mockery of the legislative process."

The central issue in the partisan deadlock was language in a proposed committee report that would restrict political contributions of labor unions by allowing individual union members to earmark their contributions for a candidate or party of their choice.

Gov. John Gilligan, who is calling the special session to deal primarily with campaign and election reforms, submitted a proposal that would allow organizations and associations, including unions, to exceed a proposed $3,000 contribution ceiling if the extra money represented contributions from individual members in amounts of less than $10.

Republicans pushed the restriction to earmark the funds, then attempted unsuccessfully to insert a provision that would lift existing legal restrictions on corporations wishing to make political contributions.

"There is no reason why corporations should be treated differently than the unions," asserted Rep. Alan Norris, R—27 Westerville.

It was Norris who later called the meeting "a mockery of the legislative process."

Committee members of both parties held long caucuses at one point in the evening, but returned to the committee room without changing their positions. At that point, Aronoff said he intended to have the Legislative Services Commission staff draft a bill from the subcommittee report from which the lawmakers had been working.

Democrats brushed aside Aronoff's suggestion that they have a bill drafted that contains the recommendations

Gilligan sent to the committee. Aronoff then told the members "I have no reservations about resigning from this committee."

Sen. Paul Matia, R—25 Westlake, excused himself, saying he was ill after having sat through eight and one-half hours of deliberations. Veteran Sen. Walter White, R—12 Lima, urged that the group call it off until a meeting next week "when we can have a better atmosphere. What we have seen here tonight is legislative chicanery."

The committee went on to consider a few more items in the subcommittee report, but killed most of them on a 7-7 tie vote, including some on which there had previously been no disagreement.

Although Aronoff earlier announced another meeting for 1 p.m. next Wednesday, some Democrats said they considered the committee "dead."

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D—46 Toledo, said when the session broke up just before midnight "we don't intend to go back."

Wilkowski charged that Republicans "killed off" the subcommittee report in an effort to draft a bill. "We were not supposed to draft a bill, only a report," the Toledo lawmaker said.

Aronoff lashed out at the governor for failing to send a personal representative to the committee session.

Instead he said, the governor "sent us only a press release. I was willing to make a motion myself to have that drafted into a bill, since the Democrats didn't seem to want to make the motion."

Earlier, the committee heard testimony from spokesmen from both parties, but most of it dealt in generalities.

War Powers Bill Ready; President Promises Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — House-Senate conferees were expected to disclose today a compromise bill to limit a president's war powers, setting the stage for a showdown on the issue between President Nixon and Congress.

The compromise reportedly would prohibit presidents from committing U.S. troops for more than 60 days without congressional approval, or 90 days for specified emergencies.

The 90-day limit for such special emergencies as protection of U.S. troops withdrawing from a combat commitment reportedly would be permitted only if a president notified Congress he needed the extra 30 days.

The compromise involves versions of two war powers bills passed by the House and Senate. Both houses now must consider the compromise.

President Nixon had said he would veto both the original House and Senate bills.

The 60-to 90-day time limit is a compromise between a 30-day limit in the Senate bill and a 120-day limit in the House version.

Another difference between the House and Senate bills was whether to define the emergency conditions under which a president could commit troops abroad for even a short period of time without congressional approval.

The original Senate bill defined such emergency conditions as the need to repel an attack upon the United States or U.S. armed forces abroad or to protect U.S. citizens and nationals being evacuated from a "direct and imminent threat to their lives."

Such definitions were removed from the House bill in committee when it was argued that they could have the reverse effect of seeming to grant presidents constitutional powers to make war.

Whether Congress could override a veto of the war powers bill is in doubt.

The House passed its original bill 244 to 170, or 32 votes short of the two-thirds needed to override a president's veto.

The Senate bill was approved on a 71-18 vote, 11 votes more than the necessary two-thirds.

Although the Senate seemed to have the votes to override, the bill would go first to the House, and if sustained there the bill would die since a presidential veto must be overridden by both houses.

One major issue on which Congress forced the President to yield was the bombing of Cambodia, ended by law Aug. 15. The administration gave in on that one after fending off a congressional effort to ban the bombing two months earlier.

The administration took another setback Tuesday when the Senate approved a $1.2-billion foreign economic aid bill, down from some $1.6 billion sought by the administration. But that was anticipated, and administration lobbyists will try to get some of the money back before a final version of the bill is sent to the White House.

That came after a successful administration drive for approval of a key defense budget bill, in which the Senate authorized $20.9 billion for weapons purchases and development. The White House originally sought $22 billion.

Nixon critics won only one significant test, with an amendment to order a 110,000 man cut in U.S. troop strength abroad over the next three years. That provision may be tempered when a compromise is worked out with the House.

Living On 1 Per Cent

With all of his inefficiencies, man has managed to survive by utilizing only about one per cent of Earth's water resources. The time has come when he must do better.

Ninety-seven per cent of the 300 cubic miles of water on the planet is in the oceans. They are not precluded from providing fresh water, but desalination techniques so far have only limited applications.

Of the three per cent which is fresh water, two per cent is frozen in the wastes of the Arctic and antarctic. The remaining one per cent is provided by rainfall and made available in rivers, lakes and underground channels.

Water resource management is an old science, but one which has to multiply progressively to keep up with demand. The First World Congress on Water Resources, meeting in Chicago, has attracted representatives from 60 nations to dwell on the problem. It is a good start toward a global confrontation with the question of meeting one of man's primary needs.

Reagan On The Move

By JEFFREY HART

On November 6, Californians will vote on Governor Ronald Reagan's tax-limiting constitutional amendment. The result will have a major impact not only on the 1976 Republican race, already well under way, but even on the long-range future of the American middle class.

The broad issue before the nation is crystal clear. The McGoverns, the Kennedys, and Mondales propose to raise still further the taxes paid by the middle class in order to initiate or expand a smorgasbord of social programs. The smorgasbord metaphor is apt enough here. Though these liberals use an evangelical rhetoric not especially suited to definitional clarity, it is evident that the society they favor would resemble the creeping Swedish mode.

To all of which Governor Reagan replies that Californians are now paying taxes approaching 40 cents on their income dollar. He believes that this is near or at the confiscatory level, and further, that the still higher taxes envisioned by the program proliferators would fundamentally alter our political and social system.

Since his election in 1966, Governor Reagan has been engaged in a protracted conflict with his legislature and bureaucracy. Though he has not won all of his battles, he can point to impressive achievements. State employees have not increased in numbers, but their work load is up 35 per cent in seven years. Since 1971, welfare rolls have dropped by 300,000. The state treasury has a $852 million surplus, and taxpayers can expect a 20 per cent rebate.

But the culminating blow against the tax raisers is to be the constitutional amendment. Drawn up by a task force of economists, it is complex in some details but simplicity itself in large outline. Briefly, it would set a legal limit on the percentage of total personal income that could be taxed by the state. Each year, a three-member board called the Economic Estimates Commission would determine the amount available for appropriation, and the state legislature would have to operate within that amount. The commission would base its calculations on Commerce Department estimates of total personal income in California, on estimates of state population, and on certain modifying factors.

There is no doubt that Reagan has seized, and made his own, what may be our single most potent political issue. In his new book "The Future While It Happened," noting analyst Samuel Lubell writes as follows:

"During the early months of 1972, my own interviewing revealed that most voters felt caught in the grip of an economic squeeze-out which was fragmenting and dividing the country politically... every use of government was becoming a tax issue. Welfare brought protests that 'people on relief are crushing the middle class.' This anti-welfare grievance was targeted against every Democrat, except Wallace and helped Nixon through the whole campaign."

Already Reagan supporters in the South and Southwest are reported to be organizing for 1976, and of course he will control the huge California delegation. If, as expected, the voters approve his constitutional amendment, he will be very much in business for 1976. And, not surprisingly, he plans a nationwide speaking tour after he leaves Sacramento.

Derby Fraud Orders Set By Judge

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—The uncle of the youth disqualified as this year's Soap Box Derby champion met privately with Judge Horace Holmes for nearly an hour Tuesday before agreeing to a non-judicial adjustment in charges against him.

Robert Lange Sr. is charged with encouraging his nephew, James Gronen, 14, to cheat in the race by using an illegal device to give his soap box racer a faster start.

Lange admitted he made the decision that his nephew, who lives with him, should use the illegal device in the race, and Boulder Dist. Atty. Alex Hunter filed charges against him shortly afterwards.

Lange was charged with "encouraging a minor to violate a state law."

Under the nonjudicial adjustment, Judge Holmes will draw up a set of orders which Lange must follow. Lange also waives his right to a jury trial on the misdemeanor charge.

Colorado's Juvenile Code provides for a maximum penalty of up to one year in jail and a maximum fine of $1,000.

Oct. 23 was set as the date for the release of orders which Lange must follow.

Circus employee Harry Yelding of England used 22-foot stilts in his act. They are believed to be the tallest ever mastered.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

My wife seems to faint without any known reasons. For years we just assumed that this was due to the fact that she is such a highly tense person. Can there be any other causes?

Mr. H. N., Nev.

Unlike most people, my eyes are always dry and cause a burning sensation. Is there any way to relieve this?

Miss I.L., Ga.

Dear Mr. N.:

It is remarkably simple for people to assume that every fainting attack is based on emotion or may be psychological in origin.

This presents a real problem in medicine because too often the so-called psychosomatic personality is given little credence for some underlying condition.

It is true that episodes of emotional distress, fright, tension, anger and a critical social problem may cause a fainting episode. But it is also true that there are dozens of underlying medical conditions that account for the sudden, temporary loss of consciousness.

Fainting, or syncope, is due to the fact that there is a sudden cut-off of the blood supplied to the brain. When the brain is deprived of blood and its vital oxygen, fainting occurs.

Temporary loss of consciousness is now investigated from the point of view of heart condition, vascular disorders and a wide variety of neurological conditions. Only the correct diagnosis can determine the form of treatment to be followed. Your wife most certainly deserves to have the cause thoroughly investigated.

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on his performance in dealing with inflation, said Prof. Kenneth Galbraith, a just reward for Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz would be a quick return to the University of Chicago as an assistant professor.

"Let him begin all over again," said Galbraith, the irreverent Harvard economist, of Shultz, the former Chicago economist and business school dean who now heads economic policy for the Nixon administration.

"Anyone who makes a mess of economic policy should be relieved and marked down as a failure," said Galbraith, a Democrat. He also nominated for retirement the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Herbert Stein.

The professor, who more than coincidentally is promoting his 17th book, "Economics & the Public Purpose," branded present economic policy as "the most inept since Herbert Hoover," and Shultz's impact as "zero."

"I think economists should be held responsible for their actions," he said, reminding a small group at an author's reception that when prices rose in World War II the public held the Office of Price Administration responsible.

Galbraith said current economic policy, which leans heavily on interest rates as a means of suppressing inflationary spending, involves a fraud. "We do have controls," he conceded, "but they're administered by people who don't believe in them. It's like putting a prostitute in charge of the vice squad."

Taxation was considered politically unpopular, he said, partly because "increased taxes have to hit the higher spending brackets." And fiscal restraint as a means of controlling inflation, he said, is usually compromised by other considerations, such as defense.

"So this means they're conducting economic policy only on interest rates, running the economy on no controls other than those available to Herbert Hoover and saying that we have controls. This is where the fraud comes in."

Higher interest rates, he said, are discriminatory because the poor are borrowers and the rich lenders, and are uncertain in their impact.

A fundamental defect in the Shultz and Stein approach, he said, is that they base policy on their own optimistic forecasts.

In directing policy, he maintained, you cannot act on the basis of what you hope or expect but instead you should deal with realities, changing policy when the realities change.

Although he never had the opportunity to administer economic policy, even though he has served in several government positions and was influential in the Kennedy administration, Galbraith said he knows precisely what he would do if he were in charge now.

His basic program would consist of a tax increase on upper incomes, a stiff monetary policy and controls, with some form of aid to the jobless in the weakest areas of the economy.

Urge Printing Pact Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio could save as much as $500,000 during the next two years because of a new system for awarding printing contracts, it was announced today.

Joseph J. Sommer, director of the state Department of Administrative Services, said this is the first time since the 1930s the state's printing work has gone to more than one firm. Six firms submitting low bids will share the $4.3 million in business.

Sommer said his agency sought aggressive bidding on the printing work, and got 23 bids for 16 categories of printing.

He said National Graphics Corp., Kenwel Printers, Inc., and The Southland Co., all of Columbus, Central Printing Co. and Printing Service Co., both of Dayton, and Boise Cascade Envelope Division of Cleveland will do the work.

Dear Miss L.:

Some people undoubtedly have a diminution in the amount of tears, or even an absence of tears. The result is a burning sensation or the feeling that particles of sand are in the eye. Dr. Abraham L. Kornsweg of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York has had a vast experience with this problem, especially in the elderly.

I know by your letter that you are 22 years old.

Sometimes associated with dryness of the eyes may come dryness of the mouth, nose and throat. Some medicines like anti-allergy drugs may be a cause. Dr. Kornsweg suggests a complete and thorough eye examination by your own doctor to rule out underlying reasons for this condition. He also suggests, in the absence of any basic disorder, the use of a solution commonly called "artificially tears." This solution of methyl-cellulose is placed in the eye three or four times a day. It relieves the burning sensation and is extremely helpful to people who live in areas of extreme heat and dryness. With your doctor's permission, this might be helpful.

A fundamental defect in the Shultz and Stein approach, he said, is that they base policy on their own optimistic forecasts.

In directing policy, he maintained, you cannot act on the basis of what you hope or expect but instead you should deal with realities, changing policy when the realities change.

Urge Printing Pact Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio could save as much as $500,000 during the next two years because of a new system for awarding printing contracts, it was announced today.

Joseph J. Sommer, director of the state Department of Administrative Services, said this is the first time since the 1930s the state's printing work has gone to more than one firm. Six firms submitting low bids will share the $4.3 million in business.

Sommer said his agency sought aggressive bidding on the printing work, and got 23 bids for 16 categories of printing.

He said National Graphics Corp., Kenwel Printers, Inc., and The Southland Co., all of Columbus, Central Printing Co. and Printing Service Co., both of Dayton, and Boise Cascade Envelope Division of Cleveland will do the work.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Noisy Patrons

DEAR ABBY: I took my wife out to dinner in the best restaurant in our small town to celebrate our third anniversary-the first one we had ever spent together because I had been in Vietnam.

At a nearby table sat a group of older people. They all obviously had had too much to drink because they became so loud and boisterous that we and other patrons couldn't carry on a conversation.

This went on all during dinner, so while we were waiting for our dessert, I went over to this noisy bunch and asked if they would kindly lower their voices.

My wife says I should have complained to the manager and let him handle the situation. I feel that the manager would have probably lost customers if he had done so, while I had nothing to lose. What is your opinion?

A QUIET KENTUCKIAN

DEAR QUIET: If you waited until the dessert to tell the noisy bunch to pipe down, you waited too long. As soon as it became apparent that they were preventing you from carrying on a conversation you should have talked to the manager. HE might have preferred to risk losing a couple of customers to your losing a couple of teeth.

Money Saving Notice

Have you taken all the deductions for family health needs allowed you under Federal Income Tax law? Most people don't... simply because receipts get lost or misplaced and very few people know the wide variety of pharmacy items which are deductible.

BUT NOW our pharmacy has a free Tax Information Plan which could mean dollar savings at income tax time. Remember, a taxpayer whose medical expense deductions exceed one per cent of his income gets back 16 cents on every $1.00 spent on health needs.

Our customers now receive a monthly and annual total of all tax deductible purchases. This very same information is important in substantiating expenses under a medical insurance program.

Most people remember that health supplies ordered by a physician qualify, but below there is a list of some of the thousands of products which are also deductible.

Remember, the Federal Government wants you to pay only what you actually owe... no more... no less. Use TIP for accuracy and to assure yourself of the maximum dollar benefit allowed by law.

MRS. GARY FRANKLIN STROUS

Church Of The Nazarene Setting For Marriage Vows

Miss Cherry Yvonne White became the bride of Mr. Gary Franklin Strous 2:30 p.m. Sept., 15th, in the Circleville Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. William G. Hill performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold White, 229 Town St., Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Franklin Strous, Route 1, Laurelville.

Bouquets of fall colored mums and straw flowers decorated the piano and organ and matching flowers with satin bows enhanced the candelabra flanking the altar. Mums and strawflowers tied with satin bows marked the pews. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Kathryn Hill, organist and Mr. Samuel Stimpert, vocalist.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she selected a floor length white organza gown with V-neckline edged in re-embroidered alencon lace, bishop sleeves with ruffled cuffs and flared skirt with fullness at the back. The bride's chapel length mantilla of silk illusion, caught to an open white pillbox, was edged in lace matching that on the neckline of the gown and the two rows encircling the bottom of the skirt. The bride's bouquet of bronze, yellow, white and orange pompon mums was interspersed with straw flowers and carried on top of her mother's Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Michael Hupp and bridesmaids were Miss Linda Sue Jacobs and Miss Judy Barnhart. They were gowned alike in long dresses of fall floral print with ruffles around the neckline and bottom of the skirts, long fitted sleeves, and brown velvet sashes formed bows and streamers at the back. They wore heart shaped lavalieres centered with a pearl, gifts of the bride, and carried bouquets of fall flowers with satin ribbon streamers.

Flower girl, Miss Kathy Lynette

Strous, sister of the bridegroom, was dressed as the attendants and carried a matching miniature bouquet.

Mr. Michael Lee Hupp served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Mr. Samuel Parker and Mr. Steve Eugene Strous, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of polyester double knit in a floral print with a round neckline and long sleeves, and a corsage of orange sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a rust colored polyester knit dress with a V-neckline and long sleeves with self ruffles at the wrists. Her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses.

Hostesses for the reception in the Fellowship Center immediately following the ceremony were Mrs. Lloyd Welch, Mrs. Randy Halley, Mrs. Donn Swisher, Mrs. Richard Perkins and Miss Ruth Spekien. A long white covered table with a skirt of white net held the four tiered Lady Windemere cake decorated with orange and yellow mums and sweet peas and topped with bride and groom figurines. Flanking the cake were silver candelabra with orange tapers. Fern and straw flowers completed the table decorations.

As the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a floral print street length dress with white collar and cuffs trimmed in lace. Her corsage was of white carnations tipped in brown with a brown ribbon bow. The couple has established residence at Route 1, Laurelville.

The new Mrs. Strous is a graduate of Circleville High School and employed as a cashier at Quality Farm and Fleet Supply, Inc.

Mr. Strous graduated from Logan Elm High School and is employed by E. I. DuPont of Circleville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from: Chillicothe, Columbus, Stoutsville, Warren, Laurelville, Tarlton, Fairborn, Amanda and Kingston.

MRS. GARY FRANKLIN STROUS

Church Of The Nazarene Setting For Marriage Vows

Miss Cherry Yvonne White became the bride of Mr. Gary Franklin Strous 2:30 p.m. Sept., 15th, in the Circleville Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. William G. Hill performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold White, 229 Town St., Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Franklin Strous, Route 1, Laurelville.

Bouquets of fall colored mums and straw flowers decorated the piano and organ and matching flowers with satin bows enhanced the candelabra flanking the altar. Mums and strawflowers tied with satin bows marked the pews. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Kathryn Hill, organist and Mr. Samuel Stimpert, vocalist.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she selected a floor length white organza gown with V-neckline edged in re-embroidered alencon lace, bishop sleeves with ruffled cuffs and flared skirt with fullness at the back. The bride's chapel length mantilla of silk illusion, caught to an open white pillbox, was edged in lace matching that on the neckline of the gown and the two rows encircling the bottom of the skirt. The bride's bouquet of bronze, yellow, white and orange pompon mums was interspersed with straw flowers and carried on top of her mother's Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Michael Hupp and bridesmaids were Miss Linda Sue Jacobs and Miss Judy Barnhart. They were gowned alike in long dresses of fall floral print with ruffles around the neckline and bottom of the skirts, long fitted sleeves, and brown velvet sashes formed bows and streamers at the back. They wore heart shaped lavalieres centered with a pearl, gifts of the bride, and carried bouquets of fall flowers with satin ribbon streamers.

Flower girl, Miss Kathy Lynette

Strous, sister of the bridegroom, was dressed as the attendants and carried a matching miniature bouquet.

Mr. Michael Lee Hupp served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Mr. Samuel Parker and Mr. Steve Eugene Strous, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of polyester double knit in a floral print with a round neckline and long sleeves, and a corsage of orange sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a rust colored polyester knit dress with a V-neckline and long sleeves with self ruffles at the wrists. Her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses.

Hostesses for the reception in the Fellowship Center immediately following the ceremony were Mrs. Lloyd Welch, Mrs. Randy Halley, Mrs. Donn Swisher, Mrs. Richard Perkins and Miss Ruth Spekien. A long white covered table with a skirt of white net held the four tiered Lady Windemere cake decorated with orange and yellow mums and sweet peas and topped with bride and groom figurines. Flanking the cake were silver candelabra with orange tapers. Fern and straw flowers completed the table decorations.

As the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a floral print street length dress with white collar and cuffs trimmed in lace. Her corsage was of white carnations tipped in brown with a brown ribbon bow. The couple has established residence at Route 1, Laurelville.

The new Mrs. Strous is a graduate of Circleville High School and employed as a cashier at Quality Farm and Fleet Supply, Inc.

Mr. Strous graduated from Logan Elm High School and is employed by E. I. DuPont of Circleville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from: Chillicothe, Columbus, Stoutsville, Warren, Laurelville, Tarlton, Fairborn, Amanda and Kingston.

Episcopal Bishops Seek High Office

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Three Episcopal bishops who favor the admission of women to the church's priesthood and two bishops who oppose it are seeking to become the denomination's new administrator and chief pastor.

Their stand on the ordination of women became a focal point in the race as the church's governing convention neared a decision on the question.

"The outcome looks favorable," said the Rev. Thomas Pike of New York City, a coordinator of the move to open the church's priesthood to women.

Most major Protestant denominations already permit the ordaining of women, but it has remained a controversial issue for Episcopalians, who combine both Catholic and Protestant heritages.

Doctor Admits To Homosexuality

NEW YORK (AP) — After years of secrecy and fear that his homosexuality would become known, a former city public health official now says is making the facts known himself in an effort to end employers' prejudice against homosexuals.

Dr. Howard J. Brown, Mayor John V. Lindsay's first health services administrator, said Tuesday there are others in prominent positions and in a number of professions who are "terrified" that their homosexuality will become known.

"I know of homosexual priests, clergymen, dentists, politicians. When I served in Mayor Lindsay's cabinet as HSA and health commissioner, there were other homosexual commissioners known to me," he said in an interview.

Labor Dispute Long And Bitter

NEW HAVEN, W.Va. (AP) — A strike at Appalachian Power Co.'s Philip Sporn plant in this Ohio River community seems a throwback to the days when fierce labor struggles were commonplace in West Virginia.

The more than three-month dispute has been the occasion for beatings, bullets, accusations and the detonation of a bomb at the plant.

On July 1, 216 members of Utility Workers Union of America Local 426 walked off their jobs at the facility, which produces power for northern Mason County.

Union members struck at generating plants on both sides of the Ohio all the way north to Wheeling when the UWUA's two-year contract expired.

"They say they've hired 14 new employees," said Searls, "but it's obvious they're just trying to break the union. They're trying to starve us out."

Last week, the action got so heavy that Mason County Circuit Court Judge James Thompson found both sides in contempt of court and ordered them to stop harassing each other.

The long, bitter struggle adds a new dimension next week with the addition of a federal mediator.

Brown Predicts Voter Turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted today 3,035,000 voters will turn out of Ohio's general election Nov. 6.

That's about 58 per cent of the persons eligible to vote, he said.

Brown said the unusually high turnout for an off-year election would be due to interest in the four constitutional amendment issues on the ballot.

Army Bureaucracy 'Loses' Soldier

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Leonard Thurmes has been a soldier without an Army post for the last five years, despite efforts and considerable expense on his part to find out where the military really wants him.

Thurmes, now 26, enlisted in the Army when he was 17. He had re-enlisted and volunteered for two tours of duty in Vietnam when his troubles with the Army bureaucracy started in 1968.

"Frankly, it's ruined out lives," his wife, Denise, said of the five-year struggle with red tape.

Thurmes said he had returned from his second 18-month tour in Vietnam and was on a 30-day leave at his home in Mahtomedi, Minn., when he received his orders on Nov. 14, 1968. But, there were two sets of orders for him.

One set, dated Nov. 5, said he was to report to Fort Bliss, Tex., on Nov. 1 four days before the order was dated and 13 days before he received it.

The other set told him to report to Fort Snelling, Minn., on Nov. 7 seven days before he received the papers.

The young soldier said he checked in at Fort Snelling and was told they had no orders for him. He was told to report to Fort Bliss.

Thurmes said he drove 1,200 miles to the Texas post at his own expense, since he had received no travel pay because he went on leave before being reassigned.

There were no orders at Fort Bliss, either.

Thurmes said he rented a trailer there for two weeks, reporting to the base every morning in hopes that the orders would come in the promised "day or two."

When no orders came, he said, Fort Bliss officials told him he was absent without leave and told him to return to Fort Snelling.

Thurmes said he returned to Minnesota and kept calling the two Army bases over the next year to check on his orders. He also hired an attorney to help straighten out the mixup.

They learned that Fort Bliss had been phased out and there were no longer any military records there. And a fire at the record center in Ben Huo, Vietnam, destroyed Thurmes' previous records, Thurmes said.

Thurmes said he has been working at odd jobs over the past few years because he has received no Army pay since he left Vietnam in October 1968.

He says all he wants from the Army now is his honorable discharge, since his six-year enlistment expired in April 1972.

Labor Dispute Long And Bitter

NEW HAVEN, W.Va. (AP) — A strike at Appalachian Power Co.'s Philip Sporn plant in this Ohio River community seems a throwback to the days when fierce labor struggles were commonplace in West Virginia.

The more than three-month dispute has been the occasion for beatings, bullets, accusations and the detonation of a bomb at the plant.

On July 1, 216 members of Utility Workers Union of America Local 426 walked off their jobs at the facility, which produces power for northern Mason County.

Union members struck at generating plants on both sides of the Ohio all the way north to Wheeling when the UWUA's two-year contract expired.

"They say they've hired 14 new employees," said Searls, "but it's obvious they're just trying to break the union. They're trying to starve us out."

Last week, the action got so heavy that Mason County Circuit Court Judge James Thompson found both sides in contempt of court and ordered them to stop harassing each other.

The long, bitter struggle adds a new dimension next week with the addition of a federal mediator.

Brown Predicts Voter Turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted today 3,035,000 voters will turn out of Ohio's general election Nov. 6.

That's about 58 per cent of the persons eligible to vote, he said.

Brown said the unusually high turnout for an off-year election would be due to interest in the four constitutional amendment issues on the ballot.

Army Bureaucracy 'Loses' Soldier

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Leonard Thurmes has been a soldier without an Army post for the last five years, despite efforts and considerable expense on his part to find out where the military really wants him.

Thurmes, now 26, enlisted in the Army when he was 17. He had re-enlisted and volunteered for two tours of duty in Vietnam when his troubles with the Army bureaucracy started in 1968.

"Frankly, it's ruined our lives," his wife, Denise, said of the five-year struggle with red tape.

Thurmes said he had returned from his second 18-month tour in Vietnam and was on a 30-day leave at his home in Mahtomedi, Minn., when he received his orders on Nov. 14, 1968.

But, there were two sets of orders for him.

One set, dated Nov. 5, said he was to report to Fort Bliss, Tex., on Nov. 1 four days before the order was dated and 13 days before he received it.

The other set told him to report to Fort Snelling, Minn., on Nov. 7 seven days before he received the papers.

The young soldier said he checked in at Fort Snelling and was told they had no orders for him. He was told to report to Fort Bliss.

Thurmes said he drove 1,200 miles to the Texas post at his own expense, since he had received no travel pay because he went on leave before being reassigned.

There were no orders at Fort Bliss, either.

Thurmes said he rented a trailer there for two weeks, reporting to the base every morning in hopes that the orders would come in the promised "day or two."

When no orders came, he said, Fort Bliss officials told him he was absent without leave and told him to return to Fort Snelling.

Thurmes said he returned to Minnesota and kept calling the two Army bases over the next year to check on his orders. He also hired an attorney to help straighten out the mixup.

They learned that Fort Bliss had been phased out and there were no longer any military records there. And a fire at the record center in Ben Huo, Vietnam, destroyed Thurmes' previous records, Thurmes said.

Thurmes said he has been working at odd jobs over the past few years because he has received no Army pay since he left Vietnam in October 1968.

He says all he wants from the Army now is his honorable discharge, since his six-year enlistment expired in April 1972.

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Ashland County officials say the county will go without a prosecutor until a permanent or acting replacement for Prosecutor John W. Johnson can be named.

Johnson resigned Wednesday after a series of verbal battles with the courts, the city of Ashland and the grand jury. He said in his letter of resignation he plans to open a private practice.

Modern Farm Costs $710,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to have a fully mechanized farm big enough to use all your talents and time? Be prepared to spend up to $710,000, says the Agriculture Department.

That is how much USDA says it would take to buy and equip an 800-acre corn-soybean farm in Indiana, including $480,000 for the land and $130,000 for other capital.

The figures are included in a new report called "The One-Man Farm" published by the Economic Research Service. Various types of operations called "technically optimum" in size are described.

Some other examples include:

- Montana, wheat and barley farm, 1,960 acres, land value $245,000 and other capital $57,000;
- Kansas, wheat and grain sorghum, 1,950 acres, $200,000 in land and $55,000 in other capital;
- Louisiana, rice and soybeans, 360 acres, land value $108,000 and other capital $50,000;
- Mississippi delta area, cotton and soybeans, 600 acres, $255,000 in land value and other capital $80,000;
- California, irrigated cotton, 400 acres, land value $320,000 and other capital $64,000; and
- California, vegetables, 200 acres, land value $400,000 and other capital $85,000.

The report was aimed only at crop-producing farms and did not attempt to analyze livestock operations. For example, the report said, a 300-cow beef herd might require 150 acres of irrigated pasture. If unirrigated pasture were used, the land requirements would be 900 to 1,500 acres in areas of high normal rainfall; 4,500 to 6,000 acres in dryland farming regions; and 27,000 to 36,000 acres in Southwest desert areas.

The author of the report was Warren R. Bailey, deputy director of the Commodity Economic Division of ERS. He explained the study this way: "The optimum one-man farm represents the maximum acreage of a specified combination of crops that the man and his machines can produce — plant, cultivate and harvest — annually."

The oldest methods of preserving foods are smoking, pickling, salting and sun drying.

Tea Honors Girls State Delegates

The American Legion Auxiliary Post 618 hosted a tea early in September honoring Buckeye Girls State delegates Kelly Steinhauser and Becki Easterday and their alternates Mickey Horn and Carol Clem.

Invited guests were the girls mothers, Mrs. C.H. Steinhauser, Mrs. William Easterday, Mrs. John Horn and Mrs. Glenn Clem, the co-sponsors Sorosis Club and Child Study League.

Kelly and Becki each gave an interesting and informative talk on their eight days at Girls State held at Capital University. They are hopeful of sharing this enriching experience with the Westfall Student body in the near future as well as any other interested organizations, or individuals.

Following their talks refreshments of punch, tea and assorted cookies were served from a table beautifully appointed in the patriotic colors of red, white and blue.

The two lovely center-pieces of red, white and blue flowers were presented to Kelly and Becki, who really appreciated this kindly gesture.

WHS Grads To Play In OSU Marching Band

By Barb Stonerock

Mark Hosler, a '72 graduate and John Myers, a '73 graduate were selected to be in the OSU marching band as regulars following tryouts. The tryouts consisted of marching techniques and playing ability.

Both boys were four year members of marching, concert, and pep bands at Westfall. In addition Mark was in stage band, band president, and received the outstanding senior band member award.

John plays the E flat alto horn and is studying pre-med.

Mark, a two year OSU bandsman plays the cornet and is a music major.

Focus On Football

A strong defensive game by Berne Union held the Mustangs scoreless in the season opener. The game ended 32-0.

An electrifying kick-off return by Gary Thompson in the fourth quarter, plus the point conversion by Artie Dick sealed the Mustangs victory against Madison Plains 16-14.

Coach Glanton was well pleased with the defensive game Westfall played against Adena, a prime contender for the SVC crown. Adena won 8-0. Best Wishes for a victorious season, team!

Alabama dairymen set a new record in 1972 with a gross income of almost $64 million.

MR. THOMAS GREER

Guidance Counselor Featured

By Becki Easterday

One of the many new faculty faces at Westfall is Mr. Thomas Greer, the guidance counselor.

Mr. Greer and his wife Gloria are the parents of two children, Doug, a first grader at Jackson Elementary, and Melissa, a lively two year old.

Mr. Greer graduated from Wilmington College and received his masters degree from Wittenberg University. He also completed counselor courses at Ken State, Miami University and Ohio University.

He previously held guidance positions at Northwestern High School near Springfield and at Greenview High School in Jamestown.

Mr. Greer feels Westfall students are friendly, co-operative, and respectful. He encourages all students to use the guidance office often for resourceful information concerning colleges, vocational schools, and technical schools.

Goals, Mr. Greer set for this year include: having a Senior High Career Day, selling the Pickaway-Ross Vocational school to non-college bound students, allowing each student to know himself better, help students follow school rules and regulations, so they will become better citizens after leaving Westfall High School.

The student body is indeed fortunate to have such a dedicated and interested counselor.

Getting Ready For Winter Makes Sense

"Getting ready for winter early makes good sense!" according to Calvin Danford, manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc. in the Circleville area.

It will assure you of comfortable days inside, while the wind howls outside. It will also conserve vitally needed, precious energy and save you many dollars, he said.

Danford pointed out that President Nixon, a number of other leaders such as state governors and experts in the field of energy utilization have been urging the conservation of all forms of energy.

Your gas company, which is still very much in the energy business, has some good suggestions that will not only conserve energy but also help reduce your heating bills. They are contained in a booklet titled, "30 Ways to Save," that can be obtained by contacting your local gas company office.

Danford offered some good tips from your gas company that will get you ready for winter, conserve energy, and save you some money, too.

1. Start early! (The warm days of late summer and early autumn are misleading. They are followed all too soon by the winds of winter.)
2. Start at the top of your house and work your way down. (Since heat rises, cracks and crevices under the roof usually are responsible for the greatest heat loss. Caulk them!)
3. Check attic insulation! (A six-inch thickness of insulation there can save both gas and money.)
4. Install storm windows and doors, or plastic sheeting! (They can reduce heat loss as much as 10 per cent. Some experts say that storm windows pay for themselves in seven years in colder climates.)
5. Seal every crack and opening around windows and doors with caulking! (Or use weatherstripping to close gaps).
6. Replace outmoded, inefficient furnaces and heating units! (Present gas customers can install modern, new replacement furnaces that will give more heat for less money—and conserve gas supplies too!)
- "Even after you have completed the early winterization of your home, there are other ways to save money and conserve gas," Danford said.
1. Let the sunshine in! It is both warm and free. (But close draperies, blinds or shutters when it clouds over).
2. Keep the opening of outside doors to a minimum.
3. Keep furnace filters clean, or replace them several times during the winter.
4. Don't block heating outlets with furniture, draperies or other objects.
5. Turn off registers or radiators in unused rooms, and keep doors closed.
6. Keep fireplace dampers closed when not in use.
7. Set your thermostat at the lowest comfortable setting. Each degree of temperature you set your thermostat above 70 degrees uses 3 per cent more fuel.

But can sealing up cracks or putting in clean furnace filters really make that much difference? "It certainly can," Danford said, "If you multiply the energy you conserve through winterizing and good heat utilization by the thousands of other gas consumers in your town, or the millions across the country."

"If your family and 999 others like yours each conserve just 1,000 cubic feet of gas a year the result would be a total savings of one million cubic feet of gas. That's enough to supply the gas needs of five typical residential heating customers for a year," Danford explained.

But, if all the 1.8 million customers served by Columbia Gas companies each conserved 1,000 cubic feet of gas a year the total would be 1.8 billion cubic feet. It is difficult to imagine, but that amount of gas could supply 10,000 heating customers for a year—enough families to fill a fair-sized city, he added.

Danford pointed out that it's not difficult at all to conserve 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

For instance, the 10 per cent savings estimated for storm window installation would mean more than 1,000 cubic feet a month for the average household, he said.

"Getting your home ready for winter will conserve vital energy resources, Danford said, and save you money. It does all add up, and your part is important.

"But, do yourself a favor. Start early, and beat winter to the punch!" he suggested.

Getting Ready For Winter Makes Sense

"Getting ready for winter early makes good sense!" according to Calvin Danford, manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc. in the Circleville area.

It will assure you of comfortable days inside, while the wind howls outside. It will also conserve vitally needed, precious energy and save you many dollars, he said.

Danford pointed out that President Nixon, a number of other leaders such as state governors and experts in the field of energy utilization have been urging the conservation of all forms of energy.

Your gas company, which is still very much in the energy business, has some good suggestions that will not only conserve energy but also help reduce your heating bills. They are contained in a booklet titled, "30 Ways to Save," that can be obtained by contacting your local gas company office.

Danford offered some good tips from your gas company that will get you ready for winter, conserve energy, and save you some money, too.

1. Start early! (The warm days of late summer and early autumn are misleading. They are followed all too soon by the winds of winter.)

2. Start at the top of your house and work your way down. (Since heat rises, cracks and crevices under the roof usually are responsible for the greatest heat loss. Caulk them!)

3. Check attic insulation! (A six-inch thickness of insulation there can save both gas and money.)

4. Install storm windows and doors, or plastic sheeting! (They can reduce heat loss as much as 10 per cent. Some experts say that storm windows pay for themselves in seven years in colder climates.)

5. Seal every crack and opening around windows and doors with caulking! (Or use weatherstripping to close gaps.)

6. Replace outmoded, inefficient furnaces and heating units! (Present gas customers can install modern, new replacement furnaces that will give more heat for less money—and conserve gas supplies too!)

"Even after you have completed the early winterization of your home, there are other ways to save money and conserve gas," Danford said.

1. Let the sunshine in! It is both warm and free. (But close draperies, blinds or shutters when it clouds over).

2. Keep the opening of outside doors to a minimum.

3. Keep furnace filters clean, or replace them several times during the winter.

4. Don't block heating outlets with furniture, draperies or other objects.

5. Turn off registers or radiators in unused rooms, and keep doors closed.

6. Keep fireplace dampers closed when not in use.

7. Set your thermostat at the lowest comfortable setting. Each degree of temperature you set your thermostat above 70 degrees uses 3 per cent more fuel.

But can sealing up cracks or putting in clean furnace filters really make that much difference? "It certainly can," Danford said. "If you multiply the energy you conserve through winterizing and good heat utilization by the thousands of other gas consumers in your town, or the millions across the country."

"If your family and 999 others like yours each conserve just 1,000 cubic feet of gas a year the result would be a total savings of one million cubic feet of gas. That's enough to supply the gas needs of five typical residential heating customers for a year," Danford explained.

But, if all the 1.8 million customers served by Columbia Gas companies each conserved 1,000 cubic feet of gas a year the total would be 1.8 billion cubic feet. It is difficult to imagine, but that amount of gas could supply 10,000 heating customers for a year—enough families to fill a fair-sized city, he added.

Danford pointed out that it's not difficult at all to conserve 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

For instance, the 10 per cent savings estimated for storm window installation would mean more than 1,000 cubic feet a month for the average household, he said.

"Getting your home ready for winter will conserve vital energy resources, Danford said, and save you money. It does all add up, and your part is important.

"But, do yourself a favor. Start early, and beat winter to the punch!" he suggested.

Peoples Choice Wins

Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Peoples Choice roared into the lead at the top of the stretch and went on to win the featured race at Lebanon Raceway by a length Wednesday night.

Timed in 2:09 4-5, the victory returned $12.80, $6.60 and $3.60. Cathy M. K. paid $6.00 and $4.40 in for second, while Bryans' Scotty Jeff showed at $4.20.

The 3-2 combination of Top Notches' Boy and Edgewood Gal paid $16.40 in the daily double.

Attendance was 1,365 and the handle was $87,694.

Quarterback Rich Haynie of Florissant, Mo., is in his third season with the Air Force eleven.

The Tigers have not been able to add a victory to the ledger at Wilmington since 1967 and will be going all out to rectify a situation that is long overdue. Sparks usually fly when the Tigers meet the Hurricane and this week's encounter should provide more action than a baton twirler with an itch.

Wilmington moves into the fray with a 2-2 mark for the season and a 1-0 record in league play. The Hurricane lost a 26-0 decision to Xenia, downed

Clinton Massie, 20-18, dropped a 16-8 contest to Franklin and beat Hillsboro, 42-6.

The Hurricane will operate from a full house T, a power I with split end and an I slot. Wilmington likes to control the ball on the ground with power sweeps, inside power plays, belly series and counter traps.

Junior Jackie Watson is an explosive runner with quickness and speed and must be shut out on the long gainer.

But the Hurricane has additional power in the backfield with Kip Collins and Brad Reynolds both supplying plenty of strength to the running attack. Jim Groves is a left-handed quarterback who is an excellent thrower and can run. He has a fine receiver in all-league end, Peterson.

Defensively the Hurricane will operate from a 5-2 monster, a gap stack five and a 6-5 goal line.

The starting offensive unit for the Hurricane will be: Peterson, 160-pound, and Dielle, 175-pound, at the ends; Wilson, 200-pound, and Eakins, 185-pound, tackles; Van Pelt, 185-pound, and Hamilton, 200-pound, guards; Davis, 170-pound, center;

Groves, 160-pound, quarterback; Collins, 160-pound; fullback; Watson, 180-pound, and Reynolds, 190-pound, halfbacks.

"This is an exceptionally big game for us as it is our first league test on the road and we haven't won at Wilmington since 1967," Circleville coach Larry Cook commented.

"It's a must win contest for us and the second step in our defense of the SCOL crown. We know Wilmington has a fine club and we look for a close game," Cook continued.

"We have to keep Watson and Collins from breaking the big play against us if we are going to be successful. Our offensive team developed confidence last week and we have to play control football as we did against Greenfield.

"Kevin Smith is questionable for action Friday night due to a minor knee injury but otherwise we are 100 per cent healthy. Our mental attitude is excellent and we have regained the enthusiasm and spirit we had in pre-season drills," Cook concluded.

Circleville coaches selected Jeff See and Pat McNaughton offensive Tigers of the week for their work in the Greenfield game. See was named for an outstanding blocking job at the point of attack and McNaughton for his fine running and blocking.

Rock Davis was honored as defensive Tiger of the week for his great work at two positions in the Greenfield fray, defensive end and tackle.

Fans Organize For Own Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new organization has been formed for sports fans who believe that more than lung power is needed to have their voices heard.

Fans Inc., a nonprofit corporation, was established to represent the interests of the little guy against the professional team owners and the players who "have been organized in order to fight for their own very narrow, special interests."

"Too often, the sports fan has been abused and had no place to turn," said Charles V. Reilly Jr., a 34-year-old public relations man from Wilmington, Del.

Reilly will be corporation president; Catherine Perle, a 54-year-old Wilmington grandmother of eight, will be vice president, and Noel H. Klores, a 40-year-old public interest lawyer in Washington, will be secretary-treasurer.

"I've been a sports nut for years," said Reilly, "and it has always seemed to me that the average fan is never asked his opinion on major decisions such as moving a team from one city to another and raising ticket prices."

The organization opened its membership drive with newspaper advertisements.

He said the group will seek fan opinion on major issues through questionnaires.

In a formal statement at a news conference, Reilly said the intent of Fans Inc. is:

—"To protect the rights of the sports fan;

—"To strengthen communications between and among the fans;

—"To present the case of the fans to Congress when necessary;

—"To assure that the legitimate complaints of fans are aired and solved, and,

—"To halt the pawn peddling of franchised professional teams across the country."

Bypasses Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Plain Dealer said this morning that Cleveland will not be represented in the new World Football League even though Cleveland sports magnate Nick Mileti is one of the six league founders.

Formation of the new professional football league was announced earlier this week in Santa Ana, Calif.

Cleveland's victory was marred slightly when goalie Gerry Cheevers suffered a knee injury on a 40-foot blast from Chicago's Bobby Whitlock.

Peoples Choice Wins

Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Peoples Choice roared into the lead at the top of the stretch and went on to win the featured race at Lebanon Raceway by a length Wednesday night.

Timed in 2:09 4-5, the victory returned $12.80, $6.60 and $3.60. Cathy M. K. paid $6.00 and $4.40 in for second, while Bryans' Scotty Jeff showed at $4.20.

The 3-2 combination of Top Notches' Boy and Edgewood Gal paid $16.40 in the daily double.

Attendance was 1,365 and the handle was $87,694.

Quarterback Rich Haynie of Florissant, Mo., is in his third season with the Air Force eleven.

The Tigers have not been able to add a victory to the ledger at Wilmington since 1967 and will be going all out to rectify a situation that is long overdue. Sparks usually fly when the Tigers meet the Hurricane and this week's encounter should provide more action than a baton twirler with an itch.

Wilmington moves into the fray with a 2-2 mark for the season and a 1-0 record in league play. The Hurricane lost a 26-0 decision to Xenia, downed

Clinton Massie, 20-18, dropped a 16-8 contest to Franklin and beat Hillsboro, 42-6.

The Hurricane will operate from a full house T. a power I with split end and an I slot. Wilmington likes to control the ball on the ground with power sweeps, inside power plays, belly series and counter traps.

Junior Jackie Watson is an explosive runner with quickness and speed and must be shut out on the long gainer.

But the Hurricane has additional power in the backfield with Kip Collins and Brad Reynolds both supplying plenty of strength to the running attack. Jim Groves is a left-handed quarterback who is an excellent thrower and can run. He has a fine receiver in all-league end, Peterson.

Defensively the Hurricane will operate from a 5-2 monster, a gap stack five and a 6-5 goal line.

The starting offensive unit for the Hurricane will be: Peterson, 160-pound, and Dielle, 175-pound, at the ends; Wilson, 200-pound, and Eakins, 185-pound, tackles; Van Pelt, 185-pound, and Hamilton, 200-pound, guards; Davis, 170-pound, center;

Groves, 160-pound, quarterback; Collins, 160-pound; fullback; Watson, 180-pound, and Reynolds, 190-pound, halfbacks.

"This is an exceptionally big game for us as it is our first league test on the road and we haven't won at Wilmington since 1967," Circleville coach Larry Cook commented.

"It's a must win contest for us and the second step in our defense of the SCOL crown. We know Wilmington has a fine club and we look for a close game," Cook continued.

"We have to keep Watson and Collins from breaking the big play against us if we are going to be successful. Our offensive team developed confidence last week and we have to play control football as we did against Greenfield."

"Kevin Smith is questionable for action Friday night due to a minor knee injury but otherwise we are 100 per cent healthy. Our mental attitude is excellent and we have regained the enthusiasm and spirit we had in pre-season drills," Cook concluded.

Circleville coaches selected Jeff See and Pat McNaughton offensive Tigers of the week for their work in the Greenfield game. See was named for an outstanding blocking job at the point of attack and McNaughton for his fine running and blocking.

Fans Organize For Own Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new organization has been formed for sports fans who believe that more than lung power is needed to have their voices heard.

Fans Inc., a nonprofit corporation, was established to represent the interests of the little guy against the professional team owners and the players who "have been organized in order to fight for their own very narrow, special interests."

"Too often, the sports fan has been abused and had no place to turn," said Charles V. Reilly Jr., a 34-year-old public relations man from Wilmington, Del.

Reilly will be corporation president; Catherine Perle, a 54-year-old Wilmington grandmother of eight, will be vice president, and Noel H. Klores, a 40-year-old public interest lawyer in Washington, will be secretary-treasurer.

"I've been a sports nut for years," said Reilly, "and it has always seemed to me that the average fan is never asked his opinion on major decisions such as moving a team from one city to another and raising ticket prices."

The organization opened its membership drive with newspaper advertisements.

He said the group will seek fan opinion on major issues through questionnaires.

In a formal statement at a news conference, Reilly said the intent of Fans Inc. is:

- "To protect the rights of the sports fan;
- "To strengthen communications between and among the fans;
- "To present the case of the fans to Congress when necessary;
- "To assure that the legitimate complaints of fans are aired and solved, and,
- "To halt the pawn peddling of franchised professional teams across the country."

Able Mission paid $7.60, $4.60 and $4.60. Program placed to return $3.80 and $3.20. The show horse was Breyer's Best at $4.20.

Driessen Tapped For Top Rookie

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, who produced three National League "rookie of the year" honorees during a six-year span in the 1960s, think they've found their first choice of the 70s.

Dan Driessen, a 23-year-old infielder who says "I'd rather play in the World Series than win any award," looms as a prime candidate for 1973 rookie honors.

"There's no doubt in my mind he's the best rookie in the league," says Manager George "Sparky" Anderson as the Reds brace for the National League playoffs this weekend against the New York Mets.

Driessen, upon joining the Reds two months into the season, became an immediate fixture in the lineup and finished the season with a .301 batting average.

His arrival coincided with the revival of the Reds' ailing attack which ranked last among the major league's 24 clubs.

"He's done it all as long as he's been with us," said Anderson. "The only thing he lacks is being here a full season. He's going to be a .300 hitter for many years to come."

Driessen, virtually overlooked by pro baseball's extensive scouting system, was signed by the Reds in 1969 at a tryout camp. A disbelieving coach saw him spray six consecutive hits in a sandlot game and asked if he was interested in pro baseball.

Later nicknamed "The Cobra," for his uncoiling batting style, Driessen was hitting .409 at the Reds Class AAA farm team in Indianapolis when called up in early June.

Platoon System By Orioles Works Out To Perfection

BALTIMORE (AP) — When a baseball manager employs a platoon system, the only certain result is grumbling.

The outfield platooning of the Baltimore Orioles is no exception. But the complaining has come from opposing teams, rather than the players being flip-flopped on the line-up card.

Don Baylor, Paul Blair and Merv Rettenmund were expected to play most of the way in the Baltimore outfield in 1973, but extended early slumps by Baylor and Rettenmund called for remedial action.

Enter rookies Al Bumbry and Rich Coggins, a couple of fleet, slightly built but strong lefthanded hitters.

Almost immediately, they lived up to their impressive minor league hitting records, and captured the imagination of Baltimore fans with their dash on the bases.

Despite their quick success, however, Manager Earl Weaver used the rookies almost exclusively against right-handed pitchers and switched back to Baylor and Rettenmund against lefties.

During the stretch drive, when the Orioles pulled away to nail down their fourth American League division title in five seasons, each ran off a lengthy hot streak.

Baylor started first, and from July 17 through the end of the season he batted .366. It was .389 until the final three days.

Next came Rettenmund, going at a .388 clip for more than a month beginning on Aug. 6, before trailing off to .319 for the final eight weeks.

Coggins joined in on Aug. 14, and swatted away at .378 through last Saturday's final game. Finally, Bumbry zipped along at .416 from Aug. 22 until the end.

When the Orioles open the best-of-5 American League playoff series against Oakland's Western Division champs at home Saturday, platooning will remain fashionable.

"It's a credit to Weaver the way he used the four players," said Coach Jim Frey. "He stuck with Rettenmund and Baylor because he had confidence in them, and it proved to be the right choice."

New Orleans Saints In Football Cellar

NEW YORK (AP) — Step aside National Football League teams, here come the New Orleans Saints.

Perhaps that's overstating it a bit. But the Saints, the only team in the National Football Conference without a victory or a tie in three games, has escaped sole possession of the NFC cellar, statistically speaking.

According to NFL figures released today, the Saints, who performed well in a 14-10 loss to Baltimore last Sunday, have shot into next-to-last place both in total offense and total defense.

Tom Seaver Ready To Play Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Like Mark Twain, the reports of Tom Seaver's demise were greatly exaggerated.

Seaver's tired right arm has passed its most important test and he is today's definite probable pitcher for the New York Mets in their National League playoff opener at Cincinnati Saturday.

TV Vikings Rated 6th In Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stow, Columbus DeSales and Middletown Fenwick took first place in their classes in the first week of computerized high school football ratings.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association released the poll Wednesday which indicates the top schools by class and region in the state.

Stow captured first place in Class AAA in Region 3 with 82 points, the highest point-scoring school in the state.

Class AA was led by Columbus DeSales with 67 points to take the No. 1 spot in Region 6. In Class A for smaller schools, Middletown Fenwick had 41 points in Region 12.

Other first place holders in Class AAA were Fairborn Baker with 81 points in Region 4; Sandusky, 80.68 points in Region 2, and Warren Western Reserve with 70.68 points in Region 1.

In Class AA, Cincinnati Reading had 61.36 points to lead in Region 8; Elyria Catholic, 59 points in Region 5, and New Lexington, 56.68 points in Region 7.

In Class A, first places went to Toledo Ottawa Hills with 34 points in Region 10; Ashtabula St. John, 32.32 points in Region 9, and Proctorville Fairland, 28 points in Region 11.

Tiger Frosh Stop Vikings

Circleville's freshman team remained unbeaten as the little Tigers stopped Teays Valley's win streak with a 14-0 decision Wednesday on the Viking sod.

Bill Mogan was the man of the hour as the tough Tiger rolled for 200 yards in 38 carries, scored a touchdown and rammed over for a two-point conversion.

Frank Merrill tallied the other Circleville touchdown with a dazzling 65-yard gallop midway through the first period. Merrill gained 100 yards and Mearle Logan picked up 50 and added some fine blocking to the Tiger attack.

The offense of Circleville showed some outstanding blocking and running to run up a total of 350 yards in 65 plays. The defensive unit played extremely well and kept the Viking attack in check throughout the contest.

Circleville's second touchdown came on an 80-yard drive in the final period with Mogan cracking over for the score.

Tiger coaches singled out the defensive play of Art Davis, Bryan Price, Randy Happeney, Logan, Tom McGuire, Earl Stevenson, Jerry Large, Bob Fuller, Brian Fath and Merrill for gaining the shutout.

Circleville will host Upper Arlington Saturday in what could be the toughest test for the Tigers this season.

New Orleans Saints In Football Cellar

NEW YORK (AP) — Step aside National Football League teams, here come the New Orleans Saints.

Perhaps that's overstating it a bit. But the Saints, the only team in the National Football Conference without a victory or a tie in three games, has escaped sole possession of the NFC cellar, statistically speaking.

According to NFL figures released today, the Saints, who performed well in a 14-10 loss to Baltimore last Sunday, have shot into next-to-last place both in total offense and total defense.

Tom Seaver Ready To Play Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Like Mark Twain, the reports of Tom Seaver's demise were greatly exaggerated.

Seaver's tired right arm has passed its most important test and he is today's definite probable pitcher for the New York Mets in their National League playoff opener at Cincinnati Saturday.

TV Vikings Rated 6th In Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stow, Columbus DeSales and Middletown Fenwick took first place in their classes in the first week of computerized high school football ratings.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association released the poll Wednesday which indicates the top schools by class and region in the state.

Stow captured first place in Class AAA in Region 3 with 82 points, the highest point-scoring school in the state.

Class AA was led by Columbus DeSales with 67 points to take the No. 1 spot in Region 6. In Class A for smaller schools, Middletown Fenwick had 41 points in Region 12.

Other first place holders in Class AAA were Fairborn Baker with 81 points in Region 4; Sandusky, 80.68 points in Region 2, and Warren Western Reserve with 70.68 points in Region 1.

In Class AA, Cincinnati Reading had 61.36 points to lead in Region 8; Elyria Catholic, 59 points in Region 5, and New Lexington, 56.68 points in Region 7.

In Class A, first places went to Toledo Ottawa Hills with 34 points in Region 10; Ashtabula St. John, 32.32 points in Region 9, and Proctorville Fairland, 28 points in Region 11.

Tiger Frosh Stop Vikings

Circleville's freshman team remained unbeaten as the little Tigers stopped Teays Valley's win streak with a 14-0 decision Wednesday on the Viking sod.

Bill Mogan was the man of the hour as the tough Tiger rolled for 200 yards in 38 carries, scored a touchdown and rammed over for a two-point conversion.

Frank Merrill tallied the other Circleville touchdown with a dazzling 65-yard gallop midway through the first period. Merrill gained 100 yards and Mearle Logan picked up 50 and added some fine blocking to the Tiger attack.

The offense of Circleville showed some outstanding blocking and running to run up a total of 350 yards in 65 plays. The defensive unit played extremely well and kept the Viking attack in check throughout the contest.

Circleville's second touchdown came on an 80-yard drive in the final period with Mogan cracking over for the score.

Tiger coaches singled out the defensive play of Art Davis, Bryan Price, Randy Happeney, Logan, Tom McGuire, Earl Stevenson, Jerry Large, Bob Fuller, Brian Fath and Merrill for gaining the shutout.

Circleville will host Upper Arlington Saturday in what could be the toughest test for the Tigers this season.

Lakes Season Extension

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Ore shippers on the Great Lakes plan to push Old Man Winter to the breaking point again this season, the Lake Carriers Association's Ice Committee said in a meeting here.

Committee members said at least 32 iron ore carriers, representing eight American fleets, would run at least into early January. And U.S. Steel Corp. said it intends to operate nine of its vessels on into February.

A strong demand for iron ore this year apparently contributed to the decision, although the ice committee has been stalling winter a little longer each year recently.

Greater Interest In Solar Energy Pushed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Some 400 solar energy enthusiasts held a second day of meetings here today, urging increased interest in the sun as a source of power.

Enrollment Declines

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—Heidelberg College said its fall freshmen enrollments slipped by 21 from a year ago, although an increase in the sophomore class held undergraduate enrollments to 1,153, only four down from 1972.

Every conversation carried on in this village, and the surrounding community, this past week has included the subject of the injury received last Saturday by "our" Champ Henson. Everyone was so saddened by the news that Champ will be out for the rest of the season. All felt that this would truly be his year at the game of football at Ohio State University.

Those of us who were fortunate to have tickets for the game last Saturday had our spirits dampened quite a bit during the afternoon. First, it was the injury to Champ and then by the deluge of rain that fell on the stadium.

Everyone in the area wishes to extend to Champ a full and speedy recovery. As one lady told this reporter early this week "Each one of us here feels that Champ belongs to them personally". How true! We're all quite proud of him and will be looking forward to next year when he will be in the Scarlet and Gray uniform once again.

"We cannot comment until we receive official notification from the union that members are ready to go back to work," a company spokesman said.

Martin Hughes, a union spokesman, said work would resume immediately.

Hughes said the agreement provides an increase averaging 25 cents an hour, but ranging up to 36 cents an hour. It covers 2,800 union members in 70 of Ohio's 88 counties.

The contract, which includes a provision for reopening wage negotiations June 15, will expire July 15, 1975, Hughes said.

Contract improvements, he said, include an agency shop requiring union dues from all workers and extended hospitalization coverage, vacation time and reclassification of certain pay rates.

The strike began July 16. The company said it suffered vandalism to equipment totaling more than $1 million during the period.

Rev. John K. Barnes and his children, Francine, 18, and John, 14, at their home.

The two are also charged with housebreaking, armed robbery of each victim, and the rape of Francine.

Other warrants charge each of the two with abducting Mrs. Robert Ewalt of Lexington, illegally entering her home and stealing various items, including a .22 caliber rifle, from the house.

Mrs. Ewalt was seized and driven to her home Monday by two men who fled in her car, leaving her tied up along with two of her children.

Her car was found at the Barnes home when police discovered the bodies of the minister and his children.

Scott and Sloan are also charged in Pendleton County with the murders of Monroe and David Sizemore of Hyden and Elva Harper of Falmouth, the night clerk at Fisher's Motel where the Northern Kentucky slayings took place.

The Barnes family car was found at the motel, police said, and Scott and Sloan were driving a car belonging to the Sizemores when apprehended.

Before they escaped, the two were being held by marshals for an appearance in U.S. District Court.

Sloan faced an auto theft charge and Scott was charged by federal officials with kidnapping.

Fayette County Commonwealth's attorney Pat Molloy, in charge of proceedings against Scott and Sloan in the Lexington cases, said he is not certain where they will be tried first.

He said they might have to be tried on the federal charges on which they originally were held.

"We're definitely running into jurisdictional problems," Molloy said Wednesday. "I don't know how long it will be before we decide what to do."

"There are so many officials involved in this thing."

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters met last Thursday in the home of Pearl Fortner. There were fifteen members, two Temple officers and one guest present.

The past meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Gladys Rush. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary-treasurer, Marilyn Sabine. Thank-you notes were read from the family of Maggie Reid and Grace Reid.

Those present signed cards to be sent to Arlene Fortner and Georgia Hoover. It was announced that we would be entertaining members of Stoutsville Temple at Friendship Night on Oct. 16.

Following the meeting, games were played with first prize being awarded to Dorothy Cook. The door prize was won by Mae Borror.

Mrs. Fortner, assisted by Gladys Rush, Mildred Messick, Edith Hudson and Grace Reid, served homemade ice cream, cookies, mints, nuts, iced tea and coffee to Florence Wharton, Mamie Odaffer, Francine Peters, Dorothy Cook, Madge Baum, Charlotte Rife, Ethel Siegel, Mae Borror, Doris Cline, Betty B. The Harrison Township Volunteer Fire Department made a run Sept. 27 on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road. A motorcycle owned by Roger Bates burned and was a total loss.

Every conversation carried on in this village, and the surrounding community, this past week has included the subject of the injury received last Saturday by "our" Champ Henson. Everyone was so saddened by the news that Champ will be out for the rest of the season. All felt that this would truly be his year at the game of football at Ohio State University.

Those of us who were fortunate to have tickets for the game last Saturday had our spirits dampened quite a bit during the afternoon. First, it was the injury to Champ and then by the deluge of rain that fell on the stadium.

Everyone in the area wishes to extend to Champ a full and speedy recovery. As one lady told this reporter early this week "Each one of us here feels that Champ belongs to them personally". How true! We're all quite proud of him and will be looking forward to next year when he will be in the Scarlet and Gray uniform once again.

The annual spaghetti supper, sponsored each year by the Harrison Township Volunteer Firemen, will be held Nov. 8 at the Teays Valley High School. Tickets are now available from any member of the Department.

The Ashville Community Club will again be sponsoring the annual halloween parade this year. It will be held Oct. 28 at 2 p.m. Serving as chairman of the event will be George Myers and Bill Welsh.

Those participating in the parade are asked to meet at the Sohio gasoline

Jurisdiction Hampers Murder Cases

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — "Jurisdiction problems" are complicating legal action against two men accused of killing six people after their escape from the federal building at Lexington.

Wilmer E. Scott, 35, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and William Sloan, 24, of Louisville are being held at the State Penitentiary at Eddyville, facing a multitude of charges in, and related to, the killings.

The slayings occurred between the time the men escaped from the U.S. Marshall's cellblock Monday and the time they were arrested Tuesday some 65 miles north at Fort Thomas, Ky., just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Await Word On Telephone Ratification

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Officials of General Telephone Co. of Ohio awaited word from the Communication Workers of America today that an 80-day strike was over.

The union Wednesday ratified an offer made last month, but company officials said they had not received confirmation of the ratification at midnight.

"We cannot comment until we receive official notification from the union that members are ready to go back to work," a company spokesman said.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC Television network tonight is putting on a fairly good cops and robbers show in a new effort to lure viewers away from NBC's "Flip Wilson" and CBS' "The Waltons" shows.

The epic is "Toma," a new series based on the life of Dave Toma, a Newark, N.J., undercover cop widely known for his disguises. The show won't bowl you over, but it's a professional piece of entertainment.

In tonight's effort, Toma, briskly portrayed by Tony Musante, appears in no less than five disguises while trying to clear an ex-junkie friend (Martin Sheen) of a murder frameup.

The deceased is a silver-haired city councilman who is shot dead in the opening scene by a swarthy man in a dark suit.

It turns out the councilman is on the take from the mob, even though he's a former cop. His heart stoppage stems from an impending subpoena ordering him to testify before a local crime commission.

It also turns out the police find the murder gun, which belongs to the ex-junkie. He promptly barges into Toma's home, seeking sanctuary and frightening Toma's wife (Susan Strasberg) no end.

The ex-junkie gets shook up a bit himself when Toma comes home and learns of the bargaining. When Toma cools off, he persuades the kid to surrender while he personally checks out the case.

The checkout soon puts him on the trail of the killer, who has been hired by a sinister mob boss who speaks softly, wears expensive threads and has a young grandson he dotes on.

When the gunsels warn the boss that Toma is hot on the trail, the old man pulls him aside and snarls: "Not in front of the kid. Never in front of the kid."

It wasn't the best snarl I've ever seen, but no matter. Toma solves the case amid suitable gunfire and running villains. And the show is reasonably rousing and well-plotted. You might try it tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those young people who early in life has to be disciplined and taught to listen to what higher-ups have to say. Otherwise your progeny could get into the wrong channels in life. Then the life becomes a successful one, especially in fields of humanitarian work or entertainment.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC Television network tonight is putting on a fairly good cops and robbers show in a new effort to lure viewers away from NBC's "Flip Wilson" and CBS' "The Waltons" shows.

The epic is "Toma," a new series based on the life of Dave Toma, a Newark, N.J., undercover cop widely known for his disguises. The show won't bowl you over, but it's a professional piece of entertainment.

In tonight's effort, Toma, briskly portrayed by Tony Musante, appears in no less than five disguises while trying to clear an ex-junkie friend (Martin Sheen) of a murder frameup.

The deceased is a silver-haired city councilman who is shot dead in the opening scene by a swarthy man in a dark suit.

It turns out the councilman is on the take from the mob, even though he's a former cop. His heart stoppage stems from an impending subpoena ordering him to testify before a local crime commission.

It also turns out the police find the murder gun, which belongs to the ex-junkie. He promptly barges into Toma's home, seeking sanctuary and frightening Toma's wife (Susan Strasberg) no end.

The ex-junkie gets shook up a bit himself when Toma comes home and learns of the bargaining. When Toma cools off, he persuades the kid to surrender while he personally checks out the case.

The checkout soon puts him

on the trail of the killer, who has been hired by a sinister mob boss who speaks softly, wears expensive threads and has a young grandson he dotes on.

When the gunsels warn the boss that Toma is hot on the trail, the old man pulls him aside and snarls: "Not in front of the kid. Never in front of the kid."

It wasn't the best snarl I've ever seen, but no matter. Toma solves the case amid suitable gunfire and running villains. And the show is reasonably rousing and well-plotted. You might try it tonight.

Senate Athletic Bill Set Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a compromise move, the Senate has sent back to committee for further consideration a measure aimed at reforming U.S. amateur sports.

The full Senate will not get the bill back from the Commerce Committee before Nov. 8 under the instructions given in Wednesday's vote.

The compromise came after it became apparent that the lobbying against the controversial measure would be too strong to overcome. Some 18 amendments were due to be introduced which would have drastically changed the bill.

The omnibus bill, whose primary sponsor is Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., would establish an independent board to charter and oversee all U.S. amateur sports governing bodies, restructure existing bodies, develop community facilities and promote health and safety in athletics.

The NCAA and the Amateur Athletic Union, the two main organizations in amateur athletics, are opposed to the Tunney bill and have lobbied strongly against it. Some athletes, most of whom have participated in the Olympic Games, are for the measure.

Tunney said the chief aim of the bills is to end "the internecine warfare" between the NCAA and AAU.

Baylor Says Wilt Is Bad Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Elgin Baylor thinks the San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association might have made a poor choice in hiring Wilt Chamberlain as coach.

"I don't think he can coach," Baylor said emphatically Wednesday. "What could he possibly help a player with?"

Baylor, a National Basketball Association star with the Minneapolis-Los Angeles Lakers for 14 seasons before retiring in 1971 because of injuries, played on the same team with Wilt during his last four years in the league.

"He doesn't have the temperament to be a coach," continued Baylor. "He never had any discipline.

"He hardly ever came to practice, and when he did, he didn't work hard, because he didn't think he had to practice. He didn't think he needed it. Last season, for example, he didn't go to practice very often in the last couple of months.

"I don't think he set a good example for young ballplayers," stressed Baylor.

The 7-foot-1 1/2 inch Chamberlain jumped the Lakers last week and signed a three-year contract estimated at $1.8 million to become player-coach of the Conquistadors, now preparing for their second season in the ABA.

Baylor believes that Chamberlain's attitude and behavior with the Lakers—and other teams he played with in the NBA—will have a bad affect on the young Conquistadors.

"When he was on the Lakers, there was one set of rules for Wilt and one set of rules for the rest of the team," Baylor said. "He ate in different places, slept in different hotels and he didn't travel with the team.

"I don't think he can possibly change his attitude now."

Frazier-Ali Fight Slated

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier have confirmed they will meet Feb. 4 at Madison Square Garden in a rematch which should indicate what degree their talents have diminished since their historic "Fight of the Century" in 1971.

The two former world champions will meet in a 12-round bout for which each fighter has been guaranteed a minimum of $850,000 against 32 1/2 per cent of the live gate and all ancillary income.

Frazier, then the reigning heavyweight champion, knocked down Ali en route to a unanimous 15-round decision in their first fight, March 8, 1971, in which each boxer received $2.5 million. Both fighters have suffered defeats since that encounter.

Frazier was stopped in two rounds by George Foreman at Kingston, Jamaica, last Jan. 22. Ali suffered a broken jaw and lost a 12-round decision to Ken Norton March 31, but reversed that setback by pounding out a decision in a return bout with Norton.

In both of the Norton fights, observers speculated that Ali had lost most of his speed and was unable to keep the aggressive Norton from forcing him against the ropes and landing strong body punches.

Politics Clutter Up Olympics

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP) — One of the topics of the Olympic Congress is how to keep politics out of sports.

The Congress, which ends today, has found out that, now at least, it can't.

The China problem erupted in Congress debates Wednesday and threatened to disrupt plans for the Asian Games, scheduled for next year in Teheran.

The international sports federations met with Iranian sports officials late Wednesday.

Senate Athletic Bill Set Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a compromise move, the Senate has sent back to committee for further consideration a measure aimed at reforming U.S. amateur sports.

The full Senate will not get the bill back from the Commerce Committee before Nov. 8 under the instructions given in Wednesday's voice vote.

The compromise came after it became apparent that the lobbying against the controversial measure would be too strong to overcome. Some 18 amendments were due to be introduced which would have drastically changed the bill.

The omnibus bill, whose primary sponsor is Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., would establish an independent board to charter and oversee all U.S. amateur sports governing bodies, restructure existing bodies, develop community facilities and promote health and safety in athletics.

The NCAA and the Amateur Athletic Union, the two main organizations in amateur athletics, are opposed to the Tunney bill and have lobbied strongly against it. Some athletes, most of whom have participated in the Olympic Games, are for the measure.

Tunney said the chief aim of the bills is to end "the internecine warfare" between the NCAA and AAU.

Baylor Says Wilt Is Bad Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Elgin Baylor thinks the San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association might have made a poor choice in hiring Wilt Chamberlain as coach.

"I don't think he can coach," Baylor said emphatically Wednesday. "What could he possibly help a player with?"

Baylor, a National Basketball Association star with the Minneapolis-Los Angeles Lakers for 14 seasons before retiring in 1971 because of injuries, played on the same team with Wilt during his last four years in the league.

"He doesn't have the temperament to be a coach," continued Baylor. "He never had any discipline.

"He hardly ever came to practice, and when he did, he didn't work hard, because he didn't think he had to practice. He didn't think he needed it. Last season, for example, he didn't go to practice very often in the last couple of months.

"I don't think he set a good example for young ballplayers," stressed Baylor. The 7-foot-1 1/2 inch Chamberlain jumped the Lakers last week and signed a three-year contract estimated at $1.8 million to become player-coach of the Conquistadors, now preparing for their second season in the ABA.

Baylor believes that Chamberlain's attitude and behavior with the Lakers—and other teams he played with in the NBA—will have a bad affect on the young Conquistadors.

"When he was on the Lakers, there was one set of rules for Wilt and one set of rules for the rest of the team," Baylor said. "He ate in different places, slept in different hotels and he didn't travel with the team.

"I don't think he can possibly change his attitude now."

Frazier-Ali Fight Slated

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier have confirmed they will meet Feb. 4 at Madison Square Garden in a rematch which should indicate what degree their talents have diminished since their historic "Fight of the Century" in 1971.

The two former world champions will meet in a 12-round bout for which each fighter has been guaranteed a minimum of $850,000 against 32 1/2 per cent of the live gate and all ancillary income.

Frazier, then the reigning heavyweight champion, was knocked down Ali en route to a unanimous 15-round decision in their first fight, March 8, 1971, in which each boxer received $2.5 million.

Both fighters have suffered defeats since that encounter.

Frazier was stopped in two rounds by George Foreman at Kingston, Jamaica, last Jan. 22. Ali suffered a broken jaw and lost a 12-round decision to Ken Norton March 31, but reversed that setback by pounding out a decision in a return bout with Norton.

In both of the Norton fights, observers speculated that Ali had lost much of his speed and was unable to keep the aggressive Norton from forcing him against the ropes and landing strong body punches.

Politics Clutter Up Olympics

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP) — One of the topics of the Olympic Congress is how to keep politics out of sports.

The Congress, which ends today, has found out that, now at least, it can't.

The China problem erupted in Congress debates Wednesday and threatened to disrupt plans for the Asian Games, scheduled for next year in Teheran.

The international sports federations met with Iranian sports officials late Wednesday.

Most of the federations, including track and field, boxing, swimming, and soccer, told the Iranians that if Taiwan athletes in their sports were excluded they would consider withdrawing, virtually assuring the Games' collapse.

The Asian Games' Executive Board voted recently to seat Red China and exclude Taiwan from the Asian Games federation. The federation must ratify the decision in Manila in December.

"We do not object to Red China taking part," said Oscar State, secretary of the General Assembly of International Federations. "But not in sports to which they are not affiliated."

At present, Taiwan is associated to most sports federations. Red China is in the ice hockey federation and is applying to four others in which Taiwan has no ties.

Nicklaus Favorite

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus turned sports writer Wednesday and loved every minute of it.

"C'mon, give me a pencil and pad. It's my turn," said the Golden Bear, favored to win the $125,000 Ohio Kings Island that started today on one of his own courses.

"Get up there on the stand," Nicklaus commanded of two startled writers. "I'm interviewing you guys on your pro-am rounds today."

The writers stalled and the winner of an all-time record 14 major titles stuck the needle in, saying: "How am I going to ask any stupid questions if I don't know your hole-by-hole scores?"

The writers reviewed mostly bogeys and double bogeys in their rounds over the 6,915-yard, par-71 Nicklaus Golf Center course. It was too much for Nicklaus' famed patience. "I've heard enough," he said, cutting short the interview. Seriously, Nicklaus said his game was sharp and a two-under-par 69 in the pro-amateur attested to that. Dwight Nevil was the low pro with 68 and picked up $500. Mason Rudolph matched Nicklaus' round. "I've got no problem getting my mind on the tournament," he said. "Fortunately, we've had guys who have done a good job getting it ready."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Hang-ups are common among young people. An awareness that all generations have to face up to tough problems eases the burden a little. New, for teenagers, is "The Way", paper-back edition of the Living Bible, with photographs and comments by today's writers. The old truths are expressed in 20th century American Language. Think about it: The Song of Solomon is a joyful love story, Jonah was a drop out, and Ezekiel's prophecies can blow your mind.

Divorce is something that only happens to some one else's parents. Right? Jimmie Gavin, in "Leap Before You Look" by Mary Stolz, is trying to make it in her world. But her parents' divorce crowds her life with a conflict of divided loyalties. Interesting people with real problems make this meaningful story for teens.

An "outstanding book of the year" according to the New York Times, "I'll Get There, It Better Be Worth The Trip" is by John Donovan. Davy is young enough to cry over the death of a pet and grown up enough to treat his alcoholic mother tenderly. The ups and downs of a young boy's life are entertaining and disturbing. Parents and children will both enjoy this novel.

A different set of problems confronts Ham in "This Mysterious River" by Mel Ellis. Fear of the devil is in his soul after he "borrows" $10 from the collection plate. To pay his debt will take an unbelievably long time for a twelve year old in 1932. The author, an outdoorsman, recaptures vividly the mud and mosquitos of a hot summer day.

Dark Elk, a young Indian whose mother was killed by Custer's soldiers, plans to fight the white man. "Only Earth and Sky Last Forever" by Nathaniel Benchley is Dark Elk's account of this struggle. Based on historical records, the author has captured the spirit of a young man fighting to the death for his land and beliefs. Beautifully written with a touch of humor, this is a compelling story of bravery and true love.

Another story of patriotism is "To Fight in Silence" by Eva-Lis Wuorio. The time is World War II and again a young boy demonstrates courage fighting with the Danish resistance to rescue Jews. Plenty of suspense will keep readers involved to the end. Additional copies of "Bless the Beasts and Children" by Glendon Swarthout are now in the library. Exciting and frightening, it is an adventure you can't put down. Highly recommended by respected critics of young people's literature, the theme is boys' growing into responsible manhood.
